BIOSYSTEMIC DISUNIFICATION DISORDER

Do you have a troubled TEEN? Can't seem to fit in? Listless and angry? Often prone to fits of impulsive and sometimes dangerous behavior? Does your teen seem unable to stand living in his or her own skin? It could be more than simple teenage rebellion. Your child may be suffering from Biosystemic Disunification Disorder, or BDD.

A MEDICAL SOLUTION
BDD is a systemic problem that cannot be cured by disciplining your child, shouting at him or her, or punishing them. Unwinding is the responsible solution for you and your teenager. Your teen will finally be soothed in a healthy divided state, and your and your family can rest and live happily.

HEAR FROM ONE OF OUR OWN UNWINDS

“When my parents signed the unwind order, I was scared. I didn't know what would happen to me. I thought, ‘Why me? Why am I being punished?’ But once I got to Haven Harvest Camp, all that changed. I found other kids like me and was finally accepted for who I was. I found out that every single part of me was precious and valuable. Thanks to the people at Haven Harvest Services, I'm not afraid of my unwinding anymore.

“The divided state? Wow. What an adventure!”

-Brian M., Pennsylvania

COUNSELING SOLUTIONS

Let our counselors help your teen accept his or her condition, unwinding, and find value in each part of his or her being. Let us help your teen feel comfortable among those like him or her. We will help them all to find their place and to find their purpose in helping others through being unwound .
